A Timely Suggestion

It seems fitting as we come to the day of "Memorial" that due honor shall be paid to the memory of those whose benefactions in the past have made possible the privileges of the present, especially if so long past, that no surviving member of the family is left to decorate their resting place. In the South church cemetery a plain stone marks the grave of Mrs. Sarah Abbott. At the first glance you only notice that she was the "relict of Nehemiah Abbot" but a closer look brings into notice in smaller letters—"Founder of Abbot Female Academy." She died in 1848 at the age of 85 years. Some flowers were placed there on this Memorial day. May it not become a custom that each year the present pupils of the Academy shall so honor her memory?

BOY IS CHASED BY POLICEMAN

Incident Drives Strike Sympathizers Into a Frenzy

GENERAL RIOT SOON FOLLOWS

Seven Cars Wrecked in Philadelphia Streets, Five Being Completely Demolished and Burned—Nearly a Hundred Persons Battered and Policemen Probably Fatally Injured—Attempt to Run Night Cars Fails

Philadelphia, June 3.—One policeman shot and probably fatally injured, nearly a hundred persons bruised and battered either by policemen or strike sympathizers, and cars wrecked and then burned, is the result of an attempt on the part of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company to operate their cars last night by imported strike-breakers.

The point at which the most serious rioting occurred is known as the Kensington Mill district. In this section of the city there lives nearly every nationality, the foreign element predominating.

When the traction company announced that cars would be run last night nearly all the storekeepers in the Kensington district, knowing the temper of the residents there, closed their stores promptly at 6 o'clock. As one car after another left the car barn, crowds stood on the streets in sullen silence.

Finally a boy cried "scab" and immediately he was pursued by a policeman who was riding on a car. As the officer started for the youth the crowd closed in upon him and so quickly was this done that he was unable to draw his revolver. This weapon is believed to have been the same revolver with which Policeman Levy was shot a few minutes later.

The fire which had been smoldering now burst into a flame of fury. The objective point was Allegheny avenue, and in less than half an hour seven cars were wrecked, five being completely demolished and burned. The police officials were powerless at the moment to combat the mob, but a riot call brought half a hundred blue-coats to the scene and the crowd was driven back. But the damage had been done and there was little need of the preservers of peace so long as no attempt was made to run cars from the barn.

While this serious disturbance was in progress in the northeastern section of the city, there were incipient riots at three other car barns. The crowd grew menacing when an attempt was made to run cars from the downtown barns and a policeman who endeavored to quell the disturbance was ducked in a water-trough. Twenty-five plain clothes men and policemen were rushed to the scene on a special trolley and after the cars were run back into the barn there was no further trouble.

The rioting in West Philadelphia was also caused by the attempt to take out cars. Some strike sympathizers pulled the trolleys from the wire and cut the rope. Several arrests were made, but in many instances the policemen were unable to get their prisoners to the station houses on account of the boisterous and fighting crowds. To attempt to move a car meant a riot and it was decided early in the evening to close all barns for the night.

The temper of the sympathizers of the strikers is becoming more dangerous with the passing of each hour and there are fears for what today may bring forth.

PITTSFIELD CARS IDLE

Conductors and Motormen Unexpectedly Precipitate a Strike

Pittsfield, Mass., June 3.—All traffic on the lines of the Pittsfield Street Railway company was tied up completely on Wednesday, following a strike of the 125 conductors and motormen, which was ordered quite unexpectedly.

A demand of the men for an increase of 1 cent an hour and for a ten-hour working day led to the strike, which, according to the company officials, came as a surprise to them, in view of the fact that they had arranged to have a conference with the employees later in the week on the question.

During the day the company announced that it had started plans for reopening all its thirty miles of lines with new and experienced men today.

"NOTHING TO ARBITRATE"

Failure of Effort to Settle Southern Indiana Traction Strike

Evansville, Ind., June 3.—An effort to submit the difficulties involved in the street car strike on the Southern Indiana Traction to the state labor commission for arbitration was rejected last night by the street car company. The offer was made by the Central Labor union, acting on behalf of the strikers.

Henry W. Marshall, vice president of the company, declared there was nothing to arbitrate and that the company would not take back the strikers except as individuals.

NOT WANTED AT HARVARD

Students Who Disturbed Peace Are Given "Leave to Withdraw"

Cambridge, Mass., June 2.—Following their conviction in the district court of disturbing the peace, John W. Cutler and Sydney M. Fish, students at Harvard university, were given "leave to withdraw from the university" by the governing board of the institution.

The charge, which resulted in a fine of $10 in the local court, arose from a disturbance in the college yard early Tuesday morning, at which two police officers were summoned and arrested the students.

Cutler was a senior, and is on the class day committee and expected to take a prominent part in the festivities. His brother is captain of the varsity crew.

Fish was on parole. A year ago he was suspended from the crew, of which he was a member, after he had admitted to surreptitiously taking a book from the college library. This year he took a course in the law school in an attempt to receive the degree which his act of last year had cost him.

Triad of Alleged Train Robbers Identified in Omaha Court

Six small boys, who brought about the arrest of the alleged robbers by discovering their tools and reporting to the police through their teacher, testified to seeing the men near Brown Park school before and after the robbery occurred.

Members of the train crew and a number of postal clerks also were able to identify the men under arrest. The defense did not introduce any witnesses.

MODEST SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Dewey Seeks to Obtain $76,000,000 For Alleged Libel

RELIGIOUS BELIEF OF JURORS

Former Judge Finds That Six Are Roman Catholics and Six Protestants—Ancient History Brought Up by Man Who Claims Character Was Injured by Being Criticized While Stumping For Mayoralty

Boston, June 3.—Dealing with a wide range of subjects, from politics in 1905 to the burning of witches in Salem, former Judge Henry S. Dewey opened his case in the superior court in his own behalf in an effort to obtain damages to the amount of $76,000,000 from officials of the Good Government association, who, he claimed, libeled him in the mayoralty campaign four years ago.

Since the filing of the first suit two years ago the damages have been raised twice, and yesterday Dewey sought to place the figures at $470,000,000. The defendants in the case are Laurence Minot, Elliot N. Jones, John M. Little, George R. Nutter and Nathaniel N. Thayer.

In the selection of the jury, Dewey asked that they be polled as to their religious beliefs.

Judge Sherman declared that while he did not like thus to take up religious matters he would ask the questions submitted to him by the plaintiff, with the understanding that no juror would be compelled to answer. The questions the court read were as follows:

Are you a member of a church? If so, of what church? If a member of no church, what faith were you brought up in?

Not a single juror declined to answer the questions. Six were recorded as Roman Catholics and six as Protestants.

Dewey said that as so much is said today about the relations of the priest and the doctor, some people have thought that a union exists between the lawyer and the priest. He then spoke of the religious contests of three centuries ago and declared that much the same interest exists today all over the world in the final question, though the manner of agitating it is changed.

Dewey stated that two of his ancestors were burned as witches in Salem. He then traced his ancestry and reviewed his own life, especially in recent years, during which he was judge of the municipal court and independent candidate for mayor in 1905. It was during that campaign that he said he was libeled by the defendants, when, he said, he was ridiculed for wearing evening dress on the stump. He denounced the methods of the Good Government association during the campaign, the secretary of which, he said, called him a liar.

The presiding judge at the trial stopped the opening address at the end of half an hour, and the former president of the Republican city committee, Fred E. Bolton, and several other politicians testified to certain incidents in the campaign. All newspaper articles published during the campaign were excluded.

There was a bullet hole in the temple.

The body was discovered by Captain Lamson of schooner Wellington, who was sailing in a small boat. It was in a good state of preservation.

KAISER AND CZAR

To Meet in Finnish Waters and Discuss European Politics

St. Petersburg, June 3.—A meeting between Emperor William and Emperor Nicholas has been arranged and will take place in the waters of the Finnish gulf. The date of the meeting probably will be June 17.

The German emperor will arrive on the Hohenzollern, while Emperor Nicholas will be aboard the Standard, accompanied by M. Iavolsky, the foreign minister, and Admiral Voeyodsky, the minister of marine.

It was supposed in some quarters that German mediation, which had ended the Balkan crisis, had left a heritage of bitterness, which would estrange the two monarchs and lead Russia to identify herself more closely with Great Britain's continental policy.

The meeting is taken to mean that Russia prefers an amicable arrangement with Germany to the doubtful issue of an antagonistic policy.

Bailey, late of Andover, in said County, deceased, has been presented to said Court, for probate, by Anna May Bailey, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Lawrence, in said County of Essex, on the fourteenth day of June, A. D. 1909, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Andover Townsman, a newspaper published in Andover, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Rollin E. Harmon, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

A Thrifty Wife.

A careful, prudent wife is a blessing to a man, especially to a poor man, but some wives are a little too careful. Lord Eldon's wife was somewhat "near," as they say in England. His lordship was very fond of hunting and retired to the country for a few weeks toward the end of the season, where he was in the habit of riding a little Welsh pony, for which he gave 50 shillings. One morning his lordship, intending to enjoy a few hours' sport, ordered Bob to be saddled. Lady Eldon objected, but as company was present gave no reason. In a few moments, however, the servant opened the door and announced that Bob was ready.

"Why, bless me," exclaimed her ladyship, "you can't ride him, Lord Eldon! He has no shoes on."

"Yes, my lady, he was shod this week," said the servant.

"Shameful!" exclaimed her ladyship. "How dare any one have him shod without orders? John," she continued, addressing her husband, "you know you rode the pony only a few times last year, so I had the shoes taken off and have kept them ever since in my bureau. They are as good as new, and these people have shod him again. We shall be ruined at this rate."

WONDERLAND IS OPEN
Great Resort at Revere Beach More
Popular than Ever

Wonderland is open for the season, no bigger than during the past three years, for its projectors built on a most generous plan at its inception, but better than ever and surely destined to be more popular than ever, with genuine bargains in the entertainment line, every afternoon and evening. Many of the big features of the big program this year are changed every week; others are changed frequently, so that one is sure to find something new, novel and interesting on every visit, even though one should go to Wonderland every day. The opening was signalized by the presence of big crowds on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, and on all sides was heard expressions of the keenest satisfaction with every item on the great bill of entertainment. The opening was a big hit in its entirety, and in every detail. The vaudeville acts for the coming week include, Minnie Crawford, popularly known as "The Girl in the Trousers", Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thorne and company in their big comedy hit "An Uptown Flat", Jules Levy and company, refined instrumentalists, Mr. and Mrs. James Gaylor in an eccentric comedy act, Joseph Wernick and company in their uproariously funny playlet entitled, "Chicken's Moving Day." The Henry Minstrels will introduce many new songs and acts, there will be changes in the artistic groupings, by Brecks Golden Graces; a new animated picture theatre, a new concert program by Teal's Band, and all through Wonderland, many new sights and sounds of a most fascinating sort. The famous rides such as the Chutes, Hell Gate, Velvet Coaster, Little Railway, Love's Journey and the most unique Merry-Go-Round in America, designed especially for the little ones, have been splendidly patronized all week. The Ball-Room is as popular as ever. In the restaurant, one can get a dainty lunch quickly served, or an elaborate fish dinner. The new plan for bargain coupons with every purchased admission ticket, and the new combination trip ticket, are popular innovations.

Mr. McFarland says, "There are many ways in which suggestions going through the grange would be effective, and the association will be glad to co-operate with you heartily and in detailed effort."

Mayfield (O.) grange has connected its grange hall with the homes of most of its 257 members.

The Kaffeekeatsch.
The difference between a 5 o'clock tea and a German Kaffeekeatsch is enormous. The tea is a pleasant go-as-you-please meeting, where we balance our teacups in hand perfunctorily, augmented by the multitudinous possessions, augmented by the trail saucer on which a top heavy piece of cake finds an insecure resting place. We may enjoy a variety of creature comforts augmented by ices and cups on festive occasions.
Not so the German Kaffeekeatsch. That is a ponderous affair which you take sitting at tables. Coffee and saucers mark the beginning of the meal, followed by numberless cakes which the Germans know so well how to make. This is followed by some creamy preparation or a beautiful device made in ice. This again is succeeded by the choicest fruits.
The Kaffeekeatsch is meanwhile still busily playing its trade. There is a well known German song which ends with the refrain, freely translated "Thank you, thank you, hostess mine I never drink more cups than nine."—London Queen.

The Fairy Hounds.
In some years stoats appear to be more numerous than in others, and they are seen not in ones and twos, but in dozens, hunting together in small packs. The late E. T. Booth of Brighton, when shooting in East Lothian one autumn, met a pack of stoats which attacked a terrier he had with him and would not be driven off until he and the dog between them had killed more than a dozen. Stoats will hunt together from scent and in full cry like a pack of hounds, one always keeping the line and followed closely by the others. This sight has been recorded by different observers, who have also seen weasels hunting in the same way. There is a popular notion in the west of England that hares are hunted at night by packs of little fairy hounds, locally called "dandy dogs," and these are said to be weasels, which the west country folks call "fairies," pronouncing the word "fairly" and "fair." Some of them declare that they have seen and watched the chase with awe.—London Graphic.

Poetic Justice.
A man whose soul had been tortured frequently by the remarks of his wife, who takes a fiendish delight in setting a price on the handsome clothes worn by other women, one day found sweet comfort in the incautious comment of a woman in a crowded car.
"Oh, yes," said that observing other woman, "the hat looks well enough, but it is cheap. It couldn't have cost a cent more than $6."
Thereupon said the man to his wife: "Why do you always pick out the most expensive clothes for special notice? Why don't you look at something cheap once in awhile? There are cheap things worn. There is a hat in this very car that cost only $6. The woman just behind us pointed it out a minute ago."
"Well," said his wife, "you are the last person on earth who ought to feel proud of it. It was me she was talking about."—New York Times.

Old English Flint Glass.
Large quantities of lead and potash were introduced into the constituents of the glass which in 1673 is described as being clear, heavy and thick as crystal.
A great impetus was given to the manufacture when the edict of Nantes in 1685 drove the skilled artisans from France. Many of them came to England, and the fame of British glass grew until it was considered superior to that of Bohemia.
From 1736 to about 1761 we have but few particulars. Then Michael Edkins, formerly a potter, became prominent as a maker of the highest class of enameled glass, which has become very scarce. It has an opaque white body, beautifully painted in enamel colors with figures, flowers, etc. In fact, it much resembles a glassy porcelain. It is getting scarce, too, and fine pieces are increasing in value.—London Opinion.

Porcine Geometry.
Seven-year-old William had become the proud owner of a pet pig and insisted upon having all the care of it himself. After a few weeks, as the pig did not seem to thrive, his father said to him:
"William, I'm afraid you are not feeding your pig enough. It does not seem to be fattening at all."
"I don't want him to fatten any yet," William replied knowingly. "I'm waiting until he gets to be as long as I want him, then I'll begin to widen him out."

After the Honeymoon.
He (at a picture gallery)—I wonder what that painting represents? The youth and the maiden are in a tender attitude. She—Oh, don't you see? He has just asked her to marry him, and she is accepting him. He—Ah, how appropriate the title! She—I don't see it. He—Why, that card at the bottom says "Sold."

Her Reason.
He—Do you know any good reason why women should vote?
She—Yes, I do.
"What is it?"
"Well, because."—Yonkers Statesman.

In Spite of It.
Mother—And when he proposed did you tell him to see me? Daughter—Yes, mamma, and he said he'd seen you several times, but he wanted to marry me just the same.—Sphinx.

Whoever bath nobly yielded to necessity I hold him wise, and he knoweth the things of God.—Euripides.

In Clinton county the Patrons' Fire Insurance company carries risks of over $3,000,000, and the cost of insurance is about $2.75 per thousand, of which only 50 cents per thousand was for expenses.
In Columbia county one grange (German town) did a purchasing business of over $15,000 last year. The Columbia and Dutchess Insurance company had 2,700 policies in force Jan. 1, carrying $6,705,750 of insurance.
Out of the thirty-three granges in Steuben county ten own their own grange halls. The Patrons' Fire Insurance company, including also Livingston, carries $3,500,000, and the rate last year was $1.81 per thousand.
The Wayne County Fire Relief association is a strong feature of the Order in that county. The company now carries $8,233,437 in insurance in that county. The Pomona grange of Wayne has 900 members. Palmyra grange of that county has a $16,000 grange building.
The largest fire insurance association in the state is that of Jefferson county, which also does a business in Lewis county. On Jan. 1 it reported risks amounting to $14,108,992, of which over $10,000,000 is in Jefferson county. The assessment is only about $1 per thousand per year.
Monroe county, with a membership of 844 in its Pomona and 4,840 members in the county in subordinate granges, reports insurance business amounting to $7,908,316 on 8,325 policies. The losses last year were very large, being $10,248. The greatest trouble was the small boy with the match.
In Orange county the Ulster and Orange County Fire Relief association carries $4,000,000 insurance. In the seven years of its existence only one assessment of $1 per thousand has been necessary. The subordinate granges in Orange county own real estate assessed at $34,000 and did a commercial business of over $300,000 the past year.
Co-operation For Rural Improvement.
A personal letter to the writer from J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic association, with headquarters at Harrisburg, Pa., conveys the information that this association will be glad to co-operate with the grange on matters pertaining to rural improvement. The association has a section on rural improvement, headed by Dean Davenport of the University of Illinois. Mr. McFarland says, "There are many ways in which suggestions going through the grange would be effective, and the association will be glad to co-operate with you heartily and in detailed effort."

Grange Trophy Cup.
At the last session of the Ohio state grange a resolution was adopted instructing the executive committee to offer a trophy cup to the grange making the best exhibit of corn at the annual meeting of the Ohio Corn Improvement association, the award to be made according to rules of the association.
State Master Laylin of Ohio had several broken ribs and many bruises from a runaway accident a few weeks ago.
Mayfield (O.) grange has connected its grange hall with the homes of most of its 257 members.

The Kaffeekeatsch.
The difference between a 5 o'clock tea and a German Kaffeekeatsch is enormous. The tea is a pleasant go-as-you-please meeting, where we balance our teacups in hand perfunctorily, augmented by the multitudinous possessions, augmented by the trail saucer on which a top heavy piece of cake finds an insecure resting place. We may enjoy a variety of creature comforts augmented by ices and cups on festive occasions.
Not so the German Kaffeekeatsch. That is a ponderous affair which you take sitting at tables. Coffee and saucers mark the beginning of the meal, followed by numberless cakes which the Germans know so well how to make. This is followed by some creamy preparation or a beautiful device made in ice. This again is succeeded by the choicest fruits.
The Kaffeekeatsch is meanwhile still busily playing its trade. There is a well known German song which ends with the refrain, freely translated "Thank you, thank you, hostess mine I never drink more cups than nine."—London Queen.

The Fairy Hounds.
In some years stoats appear to be more numerous than in others, and they are seen not in ones and twos, but in dozens, hunting together in small packs. The late E. T. Booth of Brighton, when shooting in East Lothian one autumn, met a pack of stoats which attacked a terrier he had with him and would not be driven off until he and the dog between them had killed more than a dozen. Stoats will hunt together from scent and in full cry like a pack of hounds, one always keeping the line and followed closely by the others. This sight has been recorded by different observers, who have also seen weasels hunting in the same way. There is a popular notion in the west of England that hares are hunted at night by packs of little fairy hounds, locally called "dandy dogs," and these are said to be weasels, which the west country folks call "fairies," pronouncing the word "fairly" and "fair." Some of them declare that they have seen and watched the chase with awe.—London Graphic.

Poetic Justice.
A man whose soul had been tortured frequently by the remarks of his wife, who takes a fiendish delight in setting a price on the handsome clothes worn by other women, one day found sweet comfort in the incautious comment of a woman in a crowded car.
"Oh, yes," said that observing other woman, "the hat looks well enough, but it is cheap. It couldn't have cost a cent more than $6."
Thereupon said the man to his wife: "Why do you always pick out the most expensive clothes for special notice? Why don't you look at something cheap once in awhile? There are cheap things worn. There is a hat in this very car that cost only $6. The woman just behind us pointed it out a minute ago."
"Well," said his wife, "you are the last person on earth who ought to feel proud of it. It was me she was talking about."—New York Times.

Old English Flint Glass.
Large quantities of lead and potash were introduced into the constituents of the glass which in 1673 is described as being clear, heavy and thick as crystal.
A great impetus was given to the manufacture when the edict of Nantes in 1685 drove the skilled artisans from France. Many of them came to England, and the fame of British glass grew until it was considered superior to that of Bohemia.
From 1736 to about 1761 we have but few particulars. Then Michael Edkins, formerly a potter, became prominent as a maker of the highest class of enameled glass, which has become very scarce. It has an opaque white body, beautifully painted in enamel colors with figures, flowers, etc. In fact, it much resembles a glassy porcelain. It is getting scarce, too, and fine pieces are increasing in value.—London Opinion.

Porcine Geometry.
Seven-year-old William had become the proud owner of a pet pig and insisted upon having all the care of it himself. After a few weeks, as the pig did not seem to thrive, his father said to him:
"William, I'm afraid you are not feeding your pig enough. It does not seem to be fattening at all."
"I don't want him to fatten any yet," William replied knowingly. "I'm waiting until he gets to be as long as I want him, then I'll begin to widen him out."

After the Honeymoon.
He (at a picture gallery)—I wonder what that painting represents? The youth and the maiden are in a tender attitude. She—Oh, don't you see? He has just asked her to marry him, and she is accepting him. He—Ah, how appropriate the title! She—I don't see it. He—Why, that card at the bottom says "Sold."

Her Reason.
He—Do you know any good reason why women should vote?
She—Yes, I do.
"What is it?"
"Well, because."—Yonkers Statesman.

In Spite of It.
Mother—And when he proposed did you tell him to see me? Daughter—Yes, mamma, and he said he'd seen you several times, but he wanted to marry me just the same.—Sphinx.

Whoever bath nobly yielded to necessity I hold him wise, and he knoweth the things of God.—Euripides.

THE TOWN BY A COUNTRYMAN AT HOME

Editorial Cinders

The new power sprayer purchased by the town has made its appearance upon the streets and our citizens will hope that it will be effective in spraying the elms. We have heard a great deal about the gypsy and brown tail moth, and their destructiveness, and of course, they are very serious menaces, but after all the elm beetle can do fully as much mischief as far as affecting the beauty of the town is concerned as can either one of these two pests. The apparatus to make the fight has not arrived in Andover a bit too soon for the beetle has already begun his destructive work. If allowed to continue unassailed, it will begin laying the eggs on the under side of the leaves, and for several weeks it continues this process until each female has deposited from 400 to 600 eggs. In the fight against the beetle, Warden Playdon is using arsenate of lead which is the most effective treatment known, the leaves that are sprayed with it being deadly poison to the beetle.

There are two or three business houses yet in Andover who are far enough behind the times to insist that they do not need telephone connection to assist in carrying on their business. That is their private concern, but there is one semi-public institution that would hardly seem to have a right to ignore this efficient aid. We refer to the B. & M. R. R. Freight House. It would seem as if there were enough business in the Andover Freight Station to justify the installing of a telephone and a proper listing of that telephone so that it would be possible for men doing business with the Railroad to do whatever is possible of that business by telephone. Isn't a hint to the management that such service would be appreciated sufficient to bring about this improvement?

Principal Stearns has placed himself emphatically against the continuation of the hammer throw as an annual feature in the track contests. We are glad that he is taking this position. The accident on the Andover Campus last Monday was similar to several other accidents that have happened at athletic contests during the past ten years. No one has yet been able to see just what good is accomplished by this event that could not be secured by training in some of the other and safer events. Away with the hammer throwing in athletic contests, as well as in many other fields of activity.

It is mighty good to see Andover win her various contests with Exeter, but as we suggested last week, those who believe in the principles of direct nomination don't feel very badly because Andover lost in the debate last Saturday. Win or lose, this is splendid training for the young men and it is good to see live topics forming the basis for these contests. By the way, speaking of live topics, the one that is to be considered tomorrow on the Exeter Campus promises to be extremely live, and the prospects are very promising for another Andover victory.

"Brownie" writes that owing to a multiplicity of duties, he will be unable to send a report of the School Committee meeting held this week, but he will surely be on hand at the next session. He suggests that there was very little of importance at the meeting, save a long and laborious discussion of the improvement at the Ballard Vale grounds. As this seems to be a dead issue that is always alive, perhaps it is just as well that the public is not afflicted with a discussion of it at this time.

THE STATE BY A COUNTRYMAN ABROAD

Editorial Cinders

Rev. W. J. Long, who is well and favorably known in Andover, would seem to have scored in his more recent comment upon the distinguished ex-President of the United States. Mr. Roosevelt has in a long newspaper statement, announced that there are no correspondents connected with his party but he has not stated that stories regarding the remarkable hunts in which he has taken place have been overdrawn. Mr. Long suggests that as long as there are no newspaper correspondents in attendance, the only correct deduction is that Mr. Roosevelt is his own press agent, and it is not very difficult to agree with this deduction. It is hardly an edifying spectacle that is being presented in this game of butchery being played by the "Terrible Teddy", and it isn't very far out of the way to suggest that the public is getting a rather clearer view of the character of the man as the perspective increases in length.

Our neighboring city, she of the wonderful growth, is always full of shocks and surprises. It had not been the writer's good fortune to get some of the most effective shocks that she is able to bestow until recently. We wish that every citizen of Lawrence might be taken in an automobile and bumped through the streets of Lawrence. We are inclined to think that if it were possible, we should insist that this be the punishment meted out to the poor unfortunate who appear before Judge Mahoney at regular sessions of his august court. There are few people who know the splendid growth of the city, and its wonderful business development who do not rejoice in those two features, and it is a pity that some of the physical beauties and attractions of the place could not be made to keep pace with this growth. One would have to search the entire city over to find a good piece of highway over half a mile long, save that which has been built by the State Commission, yet the City spends thousands and thousands of dollars each year in this department. Some day the business men and the taxpayers, (and this latter title embraces everybody), will rise up and demand such control of this department as will make it possible for those who use the streets to get at least a little comfort when they ride, drive, or walk.

The season of hot weather politics has begun, all the Boston newspapers announcing on Thursday that Mr. Norman White of Brookline would be a candidate for Governor unless certain legislation in which he is interested is passed the way he wants it to be. It must indeed be the silly season for the newspapers, although other silly seasons that might be the cause for this announcement began long ago. Norman White is about as likely to be a candidate for Governor as Theodore Roosevelt is to be a candidate for Khedive of Egypt, but not because of the same reason. The loud voiced Norman has been making a great deal of noise in the Legislature this season, and he is possessed of an abundance of gall, but he doesn't dare to come before the public as a candidate for Governor. One might almost wish that he would, so that his conceit could get the bumps it has been courting for the past few months. But nobody need worry. Norman will be crying "No" upon the final vote on this issue, as he does on most issues.

The death of John H. Manning, for many years a member of the Massachusetts Highway Commission, takes away from the public service of the State one of its best type of officials. Mr. Manning has been a member of the Highway Commission during practically the entire development of the system of state roads in Massachusetts. He has seen the State take the foremost place in the Union in the movement for good roads, and a large share of this development is due to his superior judgment and his keen insight into the needs of communities and the opportunity for service through construction of good roads. Aside from this, he was a man of rare personal character, and a companion and a friend such as one would cherish and long remember.

Memorial Day

A brighter, fairer Memorial Day than last Monday could not have been wished for. Never has the observance of the day been held under happier weather conditions. Especially was this true of Andover when the skies were never bluer and the leaves and grass never greener.

The day was observed here just about as usual. Early in the morning, as during most of Sunday afternoon, many people carried their floral offerings to the several graveyards where the floral displays were unusually fine. The order of exercises at the Memorial Hall began the formal ceremonies of the day and a large company was present at the impressive ceremony of decorating the tablet.

There was a large crowd at the Town hall where the formal exercises were held. George W. Chandler, Commander of Post 99, G. A. R., presided. The oration was delivered by Prof. W. H. Ryder and was a very impressive and scholarly address. Prof. Ryder discussed the subject of the war from the standpoint of the absolute necessity for the war under the conditions, and showed the justifiability of the position held by the Northern States and the Lincoln administration.

One of the most delightful features of the exercises in the hall was the singing of the school children under the direction of Mr. Cole and also the flag tableau given by the girls from the public schools.

After the exercises in the hall a large company gathered at the South church when graves were decorated and where there was a renewing of acquaintances between home folks and visitors in town.

Wedding

FARMER—KEENAN

In Cambridge, on Wednesday afternoon, occurred the marriage of Howard Porter Farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Farmer, and Miss Agnes Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. After the ceremony at the church, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, by Caterer N. J. Hardy of Arlington. Many beautiful and valuable presents were given to the couple by their host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer left for New York where they will spend about two weeks. They will be at home to their friends Wednesdays in September, at 65 Sacramento street, Cambridge, where their future home will be.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ANDOVER VS. EXETER

Final Contest for Baseball Honors Comes Tomorrow at Exeter

Tomorrow at Exeter occurs the baseball game of the season in preparatory school circles when Andover and Exeter meet at Exeter for the annual contest. This game draws more interest perhaps than any game except the meeting of Harvard and Yale and this year promises no exception for arrangements have been made for a record breaking crowd.

The outlook for the result of the contest seems to point to an Andover victory. Exeter has had various misfortunes all the season and as a result this year's team is not up to the usual Exeter standard. On the other hand Andover has a strong team and has been improving right through the season. There have been no accidents and no scholarship croppers so that a strong Andover team will take the field. The final make-up of the team is not yet settled, but a likely arrangement for the infield is Wright or Snell catcher; Brown pitcher, Burdett first base, Bennett second, Reilly third, Burdett short. Either Wright or Snell can capably fill the backstop position and the other will take a place in the outfield. Both are good dependable hitters and hard workers.

In Brown Andover has a first rate pitcher who fields his position well and can bat. He is cool and steady and knows baseball. If Brown continues to improve he will be heard from as a college pitcher. Capt. Burdett will hold down first base and though new to the position this year he plays a fair game. At second Bennett is a fine player both in the field and as a hitter and is one of the best men on the team. Reilly at third has developed greatly and is playing a good game. At short Burdett has been playing in rather erratic shape but if he plays his best game tomorrow the position will be well looked after.

The make-up of the outfield is still uncertain but out of the many candidates who have played the position this spring a strong trio can easily be selected.

If paper victories counted Andover would celebrate tomorrow without fail but baseball is uncertain and Exeter may have a surprise in store. However, there will be, as always, a good game into which Andover goes a decided favorite.

Ruby Merle Jackson a June Bride

June, the month of roses and weddings, was ushered in by the marriage of Miss Ruby Merle Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jackson, and Harold Leroy Cotton of Gorgona, Panama.

The wedding was solemnized at 6.30 Tuesday evening, June 1st, at the home of the bride, 28 Maple Avenue.

It was a quiet home wedding, only the relatives and a few intimate friends being present. The decorations were simple and effective. Mrs. Frederick Wilson played the wedding march, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. F. A. Wilson of the Free church. The bride was unattended, and was gown in white silk messaline, and carried brides roses. After refreshments were served the happy couple departed on the evening train for a two weeks' honeymoon and will visit with his people in Freeport, Me. The presents were very dainty and useful, consisting of checks, table linen, cut glass and silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton will sail from New York, June 24, on the Steamship Panama for their new home which is all ready waiting for them in Gorgona, Panama, where Mr. Cotton has held a responsible position in the office of the Canal Commission for the past three years. Mrs. Cotton will carry with her the best wishes of her many friends and customers of the T. A. Holt Dry Goods Co. where she has been a very popular clerk.

CHAPEL IS BEAUTIFIED

New Organ in East End now Adorns Phillips Chapel

During the past ten days great changes have been made in Stone Chapel at the Academy. The carved woodwork and curtains back of the pulpit have been removed and the pillars and woodwork in the arch at the side have been taken away. The old organ has been taken down and sent to Clinton, Conn. Morning chapel exercises have of necessity been suspended since the work was begun. These, however, were resumed this morning, though a piano has at present to be used in place of an organ. It is expected that the new organ will be ready for use in about ten days.

All the frame-work, wind-chests and trunks, bellows, and some of the larger pipes have been put in position, and the box for the swell organ has been constructed. The motor has been installed in a newly-made concrete basement under the minister's room, which is directly back of the new organ. A change of entrance into this room has had to be made as the new organ will completely fill the passage-way leading to the former entrance.

The new instrument is to fill completely the space taken up by the old organ, and will extend into the central arch, where probably the larger portion of the instrument will be placed. The swell organ will occupy the room formerly filled by the old instrument, and the great organ and the pedal organ will be in the middle arch.

The case is of Gothic design and is made of quartered oak in natural finish. The main front back of the pulpit is broken by two octagon towers upon which are grouped some of the largest pipes. In all there will be about forty front pipes in the organ. These will be finished in a soft French grey with gold bayleaves and lips of a greenish cast. The side arch will be filled with similarly colored pipes placed upon the casement on which the former carved wood-work rested.

The action of the organ will be tubular pneumatic and the blowing apparatus electric. There are nine stops in the great organ, eleven in the swell organ, and three (and one borrowed from the swell organ) in the pedal organ. All the stops run through, while most of the stops in the swell organ are carried up an octave beyond the manual key pipes in order to provide for super-coupling. The organ will contain 1434 pipes ranging in length from 16 feet down to three quarters of an inch.

The organ is built by the H. Hall Organ Company of New Haven, Conn., makers of the organ in Battell Chapel at Yale. The dedication will take place Tuesday afternoon, June 22.

Mothers' Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Indian Ridge Mothers' Club was held in the kindergarten rooms on Wednesday afternoon, June 2nd. There was a good attendance, this being the annual business meeting. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Thomas Leslie; vice-president, Miss Thayer; secretary, Mrs. A. Valentine; treasurer, Miss Jean David; board of directors, Mrs. A. Smith, chairman; Mrs. Sutcliffe, Mrs. Bruce. At the conclusion of the business, the following entertainment was much enjoyed: Songs were sung by 4th grade girls accompanied on the piano by Miss Estes; reading, "Sheridan's Ride," Miss Annie Ness; piano selection, Miss Thayer.

Refreshments of tea and cakes were served by Mrs. Leslie, Mrs. Bruce, and Mrs. A. Smith.

A Guest at the Japan Emperor's Garden Party

Miss Alice D. Donald of this town, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Gordon, in Japan, was so fortunate as to receive an invitation to the Spring Garden Party of the Emperor, given in April.

Many of the celebrities of the Empire followed the Emperor and Empress in a gorgeous pageant. The empress was dressed in modern costume.

Among the notables pointed out, was the man who fired the first shot at Port Arthur. The grounds of the palace were exquisitely beautiful, as the wistarias, azaleas and double cherry blossoms were all in their glory.

Wild azaleas and wistarias were in blossom on the hillsides all over the country as well.

Punchard Graduation Tickets

Owing to the unusual interest manifested in the celebration of the graduation anniversary of the Punchard School, and to the unusually large number in the graduating class, the number of tickets that can be given out for the graduation exercises at the Town Hall on June 24th, will be more limited than ever before. After tickets have been reserved for the families of the graduating class and for the school and its officials and teachers, the remaining seats will be given out in the usual way. Preference will be given in every case to graduates of the school, to parents of past graduates, and to former members of the school, not graduates. Application may be made to the Principal at any time between June 10th and June 17th, and may be made either in writing, enclosing a self addressed and stamped envelope for reply, or in person at the principal's office between the hours of 8.15 and 9.00 a.m. and 1.00 and 1.15 p.m. Applicants should state clearly their claim to tickets, as preference will be given as above mentioned.

No tickets are required for class day exercises held at 4 o'clock on the Punchard lawn, and all are cordially invited.

The West Indian Athletic C. C. Defeat Andover C. C., 116 to 63

The first eleven of the West Indian Athletic C. C. of Boston, came to Andover last Monday, and in a two inning game gave the spectators a splendid exhibition of good old fashioned cricket, and defeated the home eleven by 116 to 63 runs. The Andover team was badly crippled, five of their strong batters being absent, and but for the splendid bowling of Black and Matthew, their defeat would have been complete. The feature of the game was the batting of Captain Josephs of the Athletics who played a fine game for 27 runs in the first inning, and 18 in the second inning, being not out each time.

During the interval between the second and third innings, a substantial dinner was served by the lady friends of the Andover club, to which all the players and a number of the spectators did ample justice. After dinner speeches were made by leading members of both teams. Altogether, this was such a day as has not been seen on the Andover cricket grounds in a decade. The scores:

Cricket

There was some fine batting in the game of cricket played on the home grounds between the Moore Spinning C. C. of North Chelmsford and the Andover C. C. eleven, last Saturday afternoon.

The Moore team went to bat first and played a splendid game for 79 runs, T. Southam batting out 29 runs in quick order. With 80 runs to make to win, and just about an hour of time to do it in, Andover faced the strong bowlers of the Moore eleven, Manckton and Robinson, and by careful, yet brilliant play, succeeded in running a score of 89 runs before time to draw the wickets. A Pleasant Surprise

David Guthrie of Brechin Terrace, was given a genuine surprise last Friday morning, when Joseph McCarthy, secretary-treasurer of the Overseer's club of the Smith & Dove mill, on behalf of the club, presented him with a beautiful, genuine French briar pipe and a handsome Russian leather cigar case, as tokens of their appreciation of his faithful and efficient care of the Hillside House Bowling alleys during the past season.

Rare Program of Athletic Events on Field and Track With Exeter

Phillips Andover won an exciting track meet from Exeter last Monday by the narrow margin of two points. It was a splendid contest all the way through; a contest into which Exeter went a strong favorite and one which was full of exciting incidents. Exeter started with a rush and her supporters looked for a runaway victory but the Andover lads went at their work with dogged persistence and slowly cut down Exeter's lead and then went ahead. On the last event, the half-mile run, depended the outcome of the day, and in a thrilling race Andover got second and third places and the points needed to win the meet.

Two records went by the board during the afternoon when new marks were set both in the mile and the half mile runs. Both records go to the credit of Exeter men. But although there was not a great smashing of records nevertheless all the events were of intense interest for the contests were very close. The weather was most favorable for the meet and there was a large holiday crowd on hand. Exeter had a large contingent for the New Hampshire lads looked for a sure victory.

The meet was very well handled and was not delayed unnecessarily. One accident marred the whole affair when Burns of Exeter was hit in the shoulder by the hammer which was hurled by his team mate. His injury apparently was not serious, and he went to Boston to have his shoulder examined by a specialist.

The results:

100 yard dash—Won by Thomas H. Cornell, Exeter; Fred Burns, Exeter, second; R. M. Burch, Andover, third. Time 16 2-5s.

Letter to F. E. Gleason

Andover, Mass.

Dear Sir: How two men differ! N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., had two houses painted two ways; the houses alike, same painter, different paints. One paint 6 gallons; the other 12.

A dealer there who was selling the 12-gallon paint, threw it out and put in the 6-gallon paint.

Do you see why? The less-gallons paint cost less for the job by 6 gallons of paint and 6 days' labor: $10.75 for paint and $12 to $24 for labor (according to painters' wages $2 to $4 a day).

A dealer in paint at Malone, N. Y., was selling this 6-gallon paint, was offered the 12-gallon paint for 15c less a gallon, and took it! To make that extra 15c a gallon, he saddles a loss of $22.75 to $34.75 a job on his customers. What if they find it out?

The people had better look-out for that $22.75 or $34.75, whichever it is—we don't know what painters' day wages are there.

The two paints are Devos and another sold at the same price by the gallon. Will you figure-out that 12-gallon paint: what a man can afford to pay for a gallon of it?

The answer is (if you figure it right) taking wages $2 a day: A man could afford to put-on that paint if somebody pays him 12 1-2c a gallon; and, taking wages $4 a day, he must get $1.21 a gallon.

Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & CO

"Joan of Arc" at Harvard Stadium

The extraordinarily large number of persons employed in the Charles Frohman production of "Joan of Arc," with Maude Adams as Joan, in the Stadium at Harvard on Tuesday night, June 22nd, offers many opportunities for striking tableaux and stirring situations.

With a supporting company of 1300 members it is now impossible to hold rehearsals of the entire production, but these will be held in the Stadium itself during the week preceding the public performance. No stage in the country is large enough to hold the entire company but Miss Adams has solved this difficulty by rehearsing her company in groups on the stage of the Empire Theatre in New York, during her spare time between performances of "What Every Woman Knows," in which she is now appearing.

Preparations for the forthcoming production of "Joan of Arc," which will be the largest ever attempted in this country, are now being completed by a large staff of assistants under the direction of Charles Frohman.

A very important feature of the presentation of this spectacular and gorgeous historical drama will be the fact that every person in the audience will be able to hear every word spoken by the actors. It will not matter where one is seated, as every location in the vast open air auditorium will give the same opportunities of hearing very clearly and distinctly the voices of the actors.

The acoustic properties of the Stadium have been thoroughly tested and the results have been more pleasing than had been previously anticipated.

The public sale of tickets will begin on next Monday, June 7. The sale will open at the box office of the Colonial Theatre, Boston, where Vincent T. Fetherston, treasurer of the Hollis Street Theatre, will be in charge, and at the Harvard Co-operative store, Harvard Square, Cambridge. Tickets for this single performance will also be sold at the Empire Theatre, New York.

Scant Working Clothes.
In Singapore and Penang may be seen people from almost every part of the globe and representatives of almost every race except our North American Indians. The greater proportion of Malays, East Indians and Chinese, with their bronze black skins, make the Chinese and Japanese seem almost like white people. Each wears the costume of his native country in so far as he wears anything, but eight out of every ten persons to be seen consider themselves sufficiently well dressed when they have a yard or two of cheesecloth twisted about their loins. This fashion of dress applies to the workmen of all nationalities, whether Malay, African, Indian, Chinese or other. The Indian of the better class, whether Hindoo or Parsee, dresses as he would at home. The Chinese wears fine robes and a comb encircling his crown. The Englishman of course has the usual ill fitting clothes and a pith helmet to prevent sunstroke. The tourist, who has taken advice from many sources as to his outfit, helps to make the picture complete—Denver Post.

Two Bootblacks.
The bootblacks had no regular stand, but each had his box slung over his shoulder and, standing on the curbstone, solicited the passerby to stop and have a shine. Each boy had one "call."

The cry of the first boy was "Shine your boots here!" It announced the simple fact that he was prepared to shine their boots. The cry of the second boy was "Get your Sunday shine!"

It was then Saturday afternoon, and the hour was 4 o'clock. This second boy employed imagination. He related one attraction to another; he joined facts together. His four simple words told all that the first boy said and a great deal more. It conveyed the information not simply that he was there to shine shoes, but that tomorrow was Sunday; that it was likely to be a pleasant day; that he as a bootblack realized they would need an extra good shine.

Was it merely good luck that this boy secured twice the business of the other?—Lorin F. Deland in Atlantic.

Perfectly Correct.
A young minister in the course of an eloquent sermon on the pomps and vanities of the world staggered his congregation by exclaiming:

"Here am I standing, preaching to you with only half a shirt on my back, while you sit there covered with gowns and other baubles."

The next day a parcel containing several brand new shirts was left at his house by one of his hearers, a kind hearted old lady. Meeting the donor a few days afterward, he thanked her exceedingly, but expressed much surprise at receiving such an unexpected gift.

"Oh," said the lady, "you mentioned in your sermon on Sunday that you had only half a shirt on your back."

"Quite true," added his reverence, "but you seem to forget that the other half was in front!"—London Answers.

How to Prove Coins.
The lady behind the counter at one of the London stores wrote out the bill for my purchases on a little manifold book, which reproduced her writing by means of a carbon paper on the page below. Then she took the half sovereign I tendered in payment and, placing it on the upper page, pressed it hard down with her thumb. I asked the reason. "We have instructions," she explained, "to take the impression of any coin received by means of the carbon paper in the book. See (turning to the duplicate of my bill); there's the impression of your half sovereign. You couldn't very well think you'd given me a sovereign after seeing that, could you? You'd be surprised," she said, "how often we have to show our books to people to convince them we've not made a mistake."—Manchester Guardian.

Out of Line.
An enlisted man at the post at Fort Leavenworth was ordered to the range for the first time for target drill. Out of twenty-one chances the newcomer made never a hit.

"Oh, you dub!" exclaimed an officer standing near. "You've missed the target every time! What's the matter?"

"Well, sir," answered the recruit nonchalantly, "the only reason I can think of at present is that the person who set up my target hasn't placed it in a straight line from here."

Modern Buildings.
Probably not one out of every 10,000 buildings standing in all parts of the world and built by modern masons will be standing 500 years hence. We do not know how to put stones and bricks together as the ancients did, and consequently the buildings we raise nowadays are really mere temporary structures and will be in ruins when the ancient buildings of Greece and Egypt, built thousands of years ago, are in as good condition as they are now.

Paradoxical.
Reporter—What do you mean by saying that I use "paradoxical expressions?" Editor—I mean that you say impossible things. This story of yours, for instance, contains the phrase "bag-pipe music."—Cleveland Leader.

Packing a Trunk.
"My dear, I cannot get any more things in, and yet everything in the trunk is absolutely indispensable."
"Yes, but the question is, 'Which of the absolutely indispensable things can we do without?'"

A very pleasant evening of music, both instrumental and vocal, was enjoyed by all.

THE SEASON'S ENTERTAINMENT

THE BOSTON SHOW

Tremont

Even were it not for the distinct novelties it presents in the way of scenic effects and surprises, "A Broken Idol," in which Otis Harlan came to the Tremont last Monday, would take rank as the musical comedy, or if you prefer to say it the way the authors do, the laughing song play, of the Boston season. The musical numbers have an allure that is irresistible, the funmaking is rapid-fire and sure, the setting is a revelation in itself.

The list of novelties that the play introduces, while not long or interfering with the action, are surprising enough to merit unusual notice, the chief being the balloon trip that Miss Alice Yorke, who plays the part of Marion Mugsley, takes through the atmospheric space of the auditorium after launching her skyraft over the footlights. Imagine if you can a dignified Boston audience watching the part of the show as the balloon circles the balconies and returns stageward.

Still, it is the play itself that's the thing. And it is here that Otis Harlan, the "Doc Whatts" who wanders in and out the two hilarious acts, gives the best performance of his career. The story has to do with the love affairs of a young girl, Marion Pugsley, whose ambitious and "Malaprop" mother desires her to marry an English Lord. There is a sub plot that gives the play its title, dealing with a broken idol, which three of the characters, who go out for a night of it, strike and break.

From then on until the finish of the play the fun goes at a slashing pace. The three believe that they have killed a Chinaman and are haunted by the fear of being brought to trial for murder. And through this maze of international murder complications and international marriage anticipation wanders Mr. Harlan, the hilarious, irrepressible, genial and never put out "Doc Whatts," moves.

Associated with him as prima donna is Miss Yorke, a singer with a voice and personality that is peculiarly attractive. Her "China Doll" and "Love makes the World Go Round" songs in the first act, and the "Sign of the Honeymoon" in the second, are of that oft heralded, but seldom apparent musical rarity, "real song hits."

"A Broken Idol" is here for a long stay, unless all signs fail. It has had a run of 400 nights in Chicago and is presented here with the full Chicago cast. The summer season should prove all too short for its popularity.

The play itself is the work of Hal Stephens, and Williams and Van Alstyne, whose names themselves mean something in connection with a song and fun offering.

Majestic

Lulu Glaser brought to the Majestic Theatre last Monday evening a comic opera that is new to Boston, and a most worthy successor to her previous triumphs in "Dolly Varden" and "A Madcap Princess." The name of her new starring vehicle is Mlle. Mischief, and is the latest product of the Vienna school of operetta. In Germany the musical comedy scored heavy successes in the Berlin and Vienna theatres under the name of "Ein Toller Mädel," and it didn't have Lulu with it then.

The composer is Carl M. Ziehrer, and the book was Americanized by Sidney Rosenfeld, and, unlike most comedy interpretations, has lost none of its virility. The plot of "Mlle. Mischief" concerns the caprices of pretty Rosette, an artist's model, who makes a wager with some of her admirers that she can enter the barracks at Fremstead disguised as a recruit and remain in this Eveless Eden for twenty-four long hours without detection. She is further inspired to this daring by the fact that unless she raises the money that the wager will win her her sweetheart may wed some other young lady more blessed with the root of all evil than the rather penniless Rosette. Before she leaves the barracks she has embroiled the entire barracks into a series of laughable complications.

LAWRENCE THEATRES

Colonial

The Colonial theatre has given to the public this week a lively bill of acts which compares favorably with any show this season, and in consequence the patrons are loud in their praises and would be willing to attend throughout the summer for even on a warm day the air in the Colonial is delightfully cool.

This week the bill has for a headliner Walsh, Lynch and company in a melodramatic comedy entitled, "Huckin' Run," the stage setting of which is rural in character and very pretty. Billy Walsh is inimitable in his portrayal of Billy Butts, a typical New York east side young fellow full of slang phrases but thoroughly honest in his love for the orphan ward of the village postmaster, Squire Rollins, (Frank E. Lynch). Miss Lea Starr presents the part of Thankful Slocum, the orphan and general servant of the postmaster.

Another great act is that of the Basque quartet, three men and a young lady.

The Reed brothers present an acrobatic ring act which is as wonderful as it is novel and has made a very big hit.

The other acts on this excellent bill include Frank and Lillian in a dainty singing and dancing novelty. Ross and Moore in a bright and breezy comedy offering, Harry Ellsworth and company in the comedy skit, "Home Again," Wynne and Lewis in "The Sophomore and the Freshman," and a series of humorous moving pictures.

Just before the storm breaks she ends the troubles of the barracks by donning a pink satin skirt and resuming the sex she has abandoned for a whole day.

Even as "The Merry Widow," the music comes from the home of Strauss and Lehar, and just glides along in some of the most beautiful waltzes and marches that Boston has been blessed with this season. "Mlle. Mischief" has the scenery that it deserves and a chorus of rather unusual size and welcome beauty. The company that surrounds Miss Glaser personally includes Alexander Clark, William Rosell, Roy Atwell, W. P. Carlton, Frank Farington, Robert Broderick, William Glazer, Jose and Ethel Intropoli, Gertrude Darrell and Ada Henry. Only Saturday matinees will be given during the engagement.

Boston Theatres

Majestic: Lulu Glaser in "Mlle. Mischief."
Park: "The Traveling Salesman."
Tremont: "A Broken Idol."
Castle Square: "The Geisha."

Park Theatre, Boston

"The Traveling Salesman," James Forbes' worthy successor to "The Chorus Lady" is now in the second month of its Boston engagement at the Park Theatre, where capacity business has been the rule at every performance. The success of this play, the large audiences that have already seen it and the equally large audiences still clamoring for tickets are facts of common knowledge and its reception thus far has been of a kind to warrant the expectation that many weeks will pass before a successor is needed. Whatever doubt may have existed as to the lack of managerial wisdom in failing to bring Frank McIntyre, Arthur Shaw and Elsie Ferguson to fill the roles they created, has been dissipated by the success of Mark Smith, James O'Neil, Jr., Rosalind Coghlan and the other members of an exceptionally capable cast. The great charm of the play is in its crisp dialogue, the fetching slang and the sharply drawn characters. One may give hearty laughter without humiliation and what is perhaps most remarkable, the spectator can carry away pleasant memories of what they have seen and heard. There will be the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees during the entire engagement.

Although not definitely settled, the league officials of the New England Volunteer Veteran Firemen have practically assured the Lawrence Association that the firemen's muster will be held here during the latter part of August. The city of Taunton was the closest competitor for the honor but as facilities are better in Lawrence, this city is favorably looked upon by the officials.

The St. Anne's grand bazaar, which came to an end Monday night, was a brilliant success. First of the Swifts.

Gustavus Franklin Swift, the first of this commercial dynasty, was a Cape Cod Yankee, who bought a steer now and then and peddled the meat from the back of a certain gocart which has since become famous. He moved to Albany and went deeper into meats, discarding one after another partners who had not the foresight and daring which he possessed. He located in Chicago at the beginning of those days of great possibilities in bringing into touch the new west and the older east. It was he who invented the first refrigerator cars. This was the one revolutionary act which put his sons and a few other sons in very fair control of half of the meat of America. He saw the market for dressed beef extended only after the hardest of fights. All great revolutions are fought against. All the rest, all England, all Europe, fought the idea of dressed beef and then accepted it. I doubt if we could do without it now.—Cosmopolitan Magazine.

A Voice From the "Gode."

In a certain theater which makes a specialty of melodrama there is a large following of gallery "gods," and very naturally the "gods" assemblage is composed of knowing critics, who are loud in their demands to be pleased. Woe unto the actor who is unfortunate enough to incur their displeasure!

Recently a play with a hair raising plot was put on the boards. The hero was evidently new to his part, for he fumbled his lines badly and spoke in a faltering tone. Perhaps it was for this reason that he did not meet with the sympathy of the gallery.

Just before the crisis of the play the hero clasped his sweetheart in his arms and said:

"Keep a brave heart, my darling. The worst is yet to come."
Whereupon a voice that had no doubt received its training in crying "Extry!" on the street yelled out:
"What are y' goin' t' do, mister-sing?"—London Tit-Bits.

There Was Something Doing.
In a barber's shop the other day I saw a man for whom I felt sorry—not that he needed my sympathy from the standpoint of charity, for he was a well to do man, having many business affairs, but I felt sorry for him because of what he was doing. A barber was cutting his hair. He was having his left hand manicured. In his right hand he held a newspaper. He was smoking a cigar, and a porter was shining his shoes. There he sat reading a newspaper. Three persons were busy waiting on him, doing their best to please him, and he was oblivious to the joy which his opportunity afforded him.—Fort Worth Star.

What's in a Name.

Talking of names, what's in them? A good lot sometimes. We knew a girl named Rose once. She was a daughter of old Rose, and he, being a little romantic, christened her Wild. Certainly Wild Rose is a pretty name. But, alas, the old man was not farseeing! She married a man named Bull. Then, again, we happen to know a carpenter named Pierrotzicz Zruchiszr-owskelowski. Now, whenever a fellow workman saws down on a nail this chap always sings out, "What is it?" He thinks they are calling him. Yes, there's a good deal in a name.—London Scraps.

Partners in Crime.

The hard looking customer had been arrested for stealing an umbrella.
"What have you to say for yourself?" asked the police justice. "Are you guilty or not guilty?"
"I'm one of the guilty ones, y'r honor, I reckon," answered the prisoner. "The umbrella had the name of J. Thompson on the handle, G. H. Brickley stamped on the inside of the cover, and I stole it from a man named Quimby."—Chicago Tribune.

Knowing.

"Does he know much?"
"Well, he not only knows that he doesn't know much, but he knows enough to keep others from knowing it."—Judge.

The Unfeeling World.

"Did you ever feel that the world was against you?"
"Sure. I felt it this morning when I slipped on the sidewalk."—Pittsburg Observer.

Large Users and Small Users

A WELL DEVELOPED telephone system is the consensus of many desires, not the narrow reflection of the wishes of some individual or group of individuals.

In planning such a service it is necessary to have many different classes of rates, so that it may be placed within the means of everyone. Each subscriber to the service, be he large user or small user, adds strength and value to the whole.

To realize this interdependence—to emphasize the value of a service connecting all classes of users—and to offer its product (telephone service) in lots suited to the needs of all classes—this has been the effort of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

That its forecast of possibilities has been verified, that its campaign of education has been effective, and that its distribution of classes of service to meet varied requirements has been approved, needs no argument other than the repetition of this conclusive fact—310,000 telephones connected to its system.

If you are not represented among the 310,000 telephones now connected with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company's system, let us show you how a telephone would be helpful.

If you don't need one, your wife may. Count the steps it will save, the comfort it will bring, the emergency service it will render, and you will say a residence telephone at our rates is an economical investment.

FATHERS' NIGHT

The Bradlee Mothers' Club observed their annual "Fathers' Night" in the kindergarten room last Wednesday evening. About 50 persons were present. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock by the president, Mrs. William S. Clemons. The following program was rendered in a very satisfactory manner: Singing, Mothers' Hymn; prayer, Rev. Augustus H. Fuller; remarks, Supt. of Schools Mr. Hutchinson; piano duet, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Stott; vocal solo, Miss Lottie Metcalf; piano duet, Miss Laura Petty and Miss Ethel Gardner; quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Fleury, Miss Lottie Metcalf, Holmes E. Bates; vocal solo, Eldon Fleury; quartet, "Good Night". After the entertainment ice and cake were served, games were played, and a good social hour was enjoyed by all.

Memorial Service

The special Memorial services at the Congregational church last Sunday were very largely attended and were exceptionally impressive. The church was very appropriately decorated for the occasion with flags, plants and cut flowers. The body of the church was reserved for the exceptionally large delegations from the G. A. R. Post, the Sons of Veterans, and the Woman's Relief Corps who were present.

The special singing by the choir was appreciated by everyone, and reflected much credit on Conductor Joseph E. Stott, who had spared neither time or labor to make it a notable success. Rev. A. H. Fuller in a Memorial sermon spoke very eloquently from the standpoint of an old soldier and his pointed and practical presentation of what "Old Glory" should stand for to every citizen of our great country kindled afresh the flame of patriotism and loyalty in the heart of every hearer. As the visitors left the church for their homes each one felt it had been the very best Memorial service ever held in town.

Arlington Mills, 6; Ballardvale, 3

Ballardvale was defeated on the Playstead last Saturday afternoon in their first game of the season by a score of 6 to 2.

Both teams showed a lack of practice, but Ballardvale lost by not being able to bunch her hits and by having a bad inning when the visitors scored 5 runs. Willis B. Hodgkins umpired a very satisfactory game.

Ballardvale 10, L. A. A. 1

Ballardvale won the first victory of the season by administering a decisive defeat to the strong Longfellow A. A. of Haverhill on the Playstead Monday afternoon.

Dane for the home team pitched a great game, holding the visitors to three hits, none of which were in the same inning. Dane, Ellis and Dearborn led in the batting.

The chances of the visitors making a close game of it disappeared when Miller, their star pitcher was forced to retire to right field in the third inning on account of an injured thumb. Dupont was the only one to solve Dane's delivery with any certainty. The score:

The Blushing Tree.

The blushing tree gets its name from the change of hue it assumes when the rain falls on it. As the drops drench the leaves, gradually but unmistakably the green tint gives way to pink. In a few minutes the green fades from sight. Only in a few half hidden spots beneath broad branches and on its trunk is there a tinge of green to be seen. After an hour or more, when the shower is over, the tree assumes its familiar green once more. Certain tiny insects, and not the tree itself, change color. These peculiar parasites are possessed of the power of chameleons. In the warm sunshine they are greener than the tree on which they live, but when the chilly rain falls upon them they contract their tiny backs and become a pretty pink in tint. Millions of these change the entire appearance of the tree and make it seem to be blushing.

Dresden a City of Pleasure.

Dresden is essentially a city of pleasure—of fair, wide prospects, of hearty river life, of zest in nature and art. Even the public buildings cluster about the Elbe just as the huts of the first settlers clustered. A circle of Wendish herdsman's huts on the right bank, a line of fisher shanties on the left—these were the unlikely beginnings of Dresden in the sixteenth century. But the settlement lay at the only point in the river valley where a ford was practicable, tempting the Germans to settle on the left bank between the Wends and the swamps, or Seen, unlovely places that have long since disappeared, leaving behind only the names Seestrasse, Am See and Seevorstadt. Indeed, the very name of Dresden is derived from the Slavic dresjan, which means "dwellers in the swamp forest."—Robert Haven Schauflier in Century.

Not So Short.

He was supposed to be a poor but otherwise honest young man, while she was admittedly a thing of beauty. "Will you marry me?" he asked. "No," she answered. "You are very short," he muttered. "Ditto," she replied. "That's why there is nothing doing in the matrimonial line." "Oh, I don't know," he sneered, as he extracted an obese billbook from an inside pocket and displayed a number of $1,000 bills. "I'm not so short." Whereupon the unwary maid tried to fall upon his neck, but he gracefully sidestepped, and she fell to the floor in a faint.—Chicago News.

Made It Clear.

Sergeant of Royal Irish Constabulary (interviewing new member of the force)—Well, Maginnis, 'tis the fine, strong, fleshy lookin' fella ye are. Now, if a desprit man attacked ye wid a knife an' a pistol, would ye run or fight? Recruit—Shure, yer honor, I would! Sergeant—What, ye would? Recruit—Begorra, I mane I would not, sor! Sergeant—Ah, now that's better! G'long wid ye, me buckol—London Punch.

Sure to Respond.

Mother—My other little girl is very frail, but I've taken precautions to have baby grow up into a big, burxom girl. Visitor—Indeed, and what have you done? Mother—I've had her christened "Fairy."—Boston Transcript.

The Sweet Girls.

Maud—You say Jack once proposed to you. I don't believe it. He said I was the only woman he ever loved. Ethel—Yes, dear, but he didn't class me among women. He used to call me his angel.
